the rear trucks. The wrecking train was sent down, the passenger coaches taken to Waverly and a new train made up for Grand Rapids, the trip north being cancelled. The fast train from Chicago that evening was twelve hours late, and communication on the northern division was entirely suspended. The train that left Grand Haven Wednesday at 1:00 p. m. got stalled at Agnew, by reason of a freight train that was blockaded near West Olive, and did not reach here until 7:30 p. m. Thursday evening. The passengers on board spent the time as well as they could, taking their meals at farmers' houses. Two of them W. Diekema of this city and Rev. Fred J. Zwemer of Graafschap, concluded to tramp their way to Holland. They left Agnew Thursday morning, and arrived here a trifle in advance of the train.

Watch for the date of our Spring Opening! We promise you something new and altogether different.

The U. S. Supreme Court.

No other legal tribunal that ever existed has possessed such well nigh absolute power as is wielded by the Supreme Court of the United States. It can even overthrow any law passed by congress and signed by the president, if it chooses to discover a constitutional flaw in the measure, and from its decision there is no appeal. Such awe does it inspire that lawyers of great reputation and experience who come here to plead before it are often seized with fright, tremble, turn pale and forget their words in its presence. A distinguished legal luminary from New York confessed the other day that, after arguing a case at the bar of the Supreme Court, he always goes straight to his hotel and changes his underclothing, because it is soaked with perspiration.

To carry a case up to the Supreme Court costs a good deal of money. The appellants must make a deposit of $1,000 ordinarily to pay for printing and fees. The late clerk of the court, named Middleton, was said to have received an income of about $50,000 from fees, as it was reckoned. But a disagreement which arose among the clerical officers attached to the tribunal gave rise to an investigation, a result being that the pay of the clerk was cut down to $6,000 a year.

Every Saturday during term time the cases which have been called for consideration during the week are discussed by the justices in secret conference. The chief justice takes up each case in turn and starts the talk about it by asking the junior justice—that is the justice last appointed—what he thinks respecting it. General conversation on the subject follows, and sometimes the argument becomes very hot. Finally a vote on the merits of the case is taken. The votes are recorded in a clasped volume provided with a lock, which is known as the "locked docket." Its contents are not revealed to anybody. If they got out the news might be used for speculative purposes.

But the voting at conference does not decide the case finally. On the same night usually the chief justice assigns all the cases which have been thus discussed and voted on to the associate justices for re-examination. He gives them out with reference to the recognized specialties of the judges. Harlan's specialty is constitutional law. Brown's forte is admiralty law, embracing everything which has to do with commerce on the high seas. Field is exceptionally well informed as to land grants and mining.

Each justice goes over the case assigned to him just as if he had never seen it before. He writes out his opinion respecting its merits and sends the manuscript to the printer. Proofs are returned to him at once and he sends one of them to each of the other justices. They cut it to pieces, altering it ruthlessly, correcting its style and diction, criticising its law, and even changing the spelling and punctuation. There is no such thing as Supreme Court courtesy among the members themselves. No embarrassment of etiquette restrains one justice from chewing up the opinions of another.

The eight proofs thus corrected are sent back to the author of the opinion. He revises the latter in the light of the suggestions thus received. But even now it is not complete. On the next Saturday it is taken up in conference and again criticised and amended, cut down or added to. Of course, you see the document must eventually represent the united opinion of the whole bench. Once in a while, though not often, it happens, that one or more of the judges dissent from the opinion of the majority, and in that case a minority opinion is rendered.

Brother Gardner on Eulogies.

"At a late meeting of dis club," said Brother Gardner as he arose with solemn countenance, "we disposed of some resolutions on the death of 'Kurnel' Cabiff. It now becomes my duty to announce, dat we hev met wid another loss. Another kurnel has been called away, reducin' our list of kurnels to about fo'teen. As most of yo' am aware, Kurnel Kyann Johnson departed dis life las' Tuesday arter a sickness which only scattered itself through two short weeks. I know it am usual in such cases for somebody to observe, dat de late deceased was a great an' good man, possessed of about all de virtues of mankind; but I cannot consistently foller de rule. In de fust place, as yo' all am aware, I doan believe in eulogies, an' in de nex', it nebbor did help a dead man any fur de libin' to stand up an' lie about him.

"Kurnel Johnson was jes' an average man—no mo' an' no less. My fust meetin' wid him was under rather embarrassin' circumstances. One night at midnight I heard my Leghorn chickens makin' a great fuss, an' I riz up an' went out to de coop to investigate. De kurnel was in de coop an' had already lifted two fat pullets off de roost. I lit into him and hammered him for half an hour, an' he den explained dat he was walkin' in his sleep. I could stan' up here an' say dat de kurnel was an honest man, but I shan't do it. He was as honest as de average, an' dat's praise 'nuff.

"It am usual to observe in such cases as dis, dat de departed was possessed of qualities which endeared him to a large circle of frien's. I cannot say dat fur de kurnel. He had some of de meanest streaks in him of any man I ever met up wid, an on as many as fo' different occashuns I hev had to take him by de neck an' temporarily improve his manners. If I was called upon to swar to it I should say he had twenty faults to one virtue. His circle of frien's wasn't big, an' it was growing smaller all de time.

"I reckon some of yo' expect to 'har me say, dat de kurnel was a kind father an' a lovin husband, but I shan't do it. He was about de average. He'd lose three dollars shootin' craps, when his wife was shoeless, an' he'd put up two dollars on a hoss race when his chillen hungered fur taters. It was hisself fust, an de famly next. I hev happened into his cabin when he 'peared to be a lovin husband, an' I has happened in when he was lickin his ole woman wid a strap. Sometimes he would surprise de chillen wid pop-co'n candy, an' sometimes wid sich a spankin' dat de police would git arter him.

"I haven't said dat de world was better fur de kurnel havin' lived in it fur forty-eight years, seben months an' fo'teen days, nor shall I. It wasn't. If he had bin bo'n a rabbit or a mawl, or if he hadn't bin bo'n at all, it wouldn't hev made a cent's wuth of difference to de world. Like de average man, he arrove, he sloshed around an' he went hence, an' nobody on de next block consarned demselves about his livin' or dyin'. Our loss am not eben his gain—not as any one knows of.

"About de only phrase I kin wing in on him is dat we shall miss him. We shall miss him becase he was allus trivin' to borrow money; allus behind in his dues; allus kickin' an' complainin' an' gittin' up disputes about Dan's in de lion's den. He died owin' de grocer, butcher, landlord an' about ebbery member of dis club, an' de famly didn't hev a shillin' in de house. It am perhaps needless to add, dat his wife selected a ninety dollar casket an' had twenty-five hacks in de funeral pureshun, an' she looks to dis club to put up a monument.

"We shall display the usual emblems of mournin' fur de kurnel. We shall set aside a page to his memory. We shall remember ebbery good deed he eber dun an try our level best to forget dat he had a single fault. We owe dat to de dead, and its mighty seldom we owe any more."

How Henry Ward Beecher Read 'Uncle Tom's Cabin.'

I was talking with Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher a few evenings ago, and the conversation happened to turn on "Uncle Tom's Cabin," said a reporter for a New York daily, the other day. I asked her if Mr. Beecher had ever expressed an opinion of his sister's famous book, and she told me this interesting story of how the famous preacher read the story:

"When the story was first published in the National Era, in chapters, all our family, except Mr. Beecher, looked impatiently for its appearance each week. But, try as we might, we could not persuade Mr. Beecher to read it, or let us tell him anything about it.

"It's folly for you to be kept in constant excitement week after week," he would say, "I shall wait till the work is completed, and take it all at one done."

"When the work was finished the book came to Mr. Beecher on the morning of a day when he had a meeting on hand for the afternoon and a speech to make in the evening. The book was quietly laid to one side, for he always scrupulously avoided everything that could interfere with or retard work he was expected to do. But the next day was a free day. Mr. Beecher rose even earlier than usual and as soon as dressed began to read 'Uncle Tom's Cabin.'

"When breakfast was ready he took the book with him to the table, and reading and eating went on together, but speaking never a word. After morning prayers he threw himself on the sofa, forgot everything but his book, and read uninterruptedly till dinner-time. Though evidently beginning to be intensely interested, for a long time he controlled any marked indication of it; but before noon I knew the storm was gathering that would conquer self-control, as it had done with us all. He frequently 'gave way to his pocket handkerchief,' to use one of his old humorous remarks, in a most vigorous manner. I could not refrain, in return for his teasing me for reading the work weekly, from saying demurely, as I passed him once: 'You seem to have a severe cold. How could you have taken it?' But what did I gain? Not even a half annoyed shake of the head, or a semblance of a smile, I might as well have spoken to the Sphinx.

"When reminded that the dinner bell had rung he rose and went to the table, still with his book in his hand. He asked the blessing with a tremor in his voice, which showed the intense excitement under which he was laboring. We were alone at the table and nothing to distract his thoughts. He drank his coffee, ate but little and returned to his reading, with no thought of indulging in his usual afternoon nap. Evidence of almost uncontrollable excitement in the form of half-suppressed sobs were frequent.

"Mr. Beecher was never a rapid reader. I was getting uneasy over the marks of great feeling and excitement, and longed to have him finish the book. I could see that he entered into the whole story, every scene as if it was acted right before him, and he himself was the sufferer. He had always been a pronounced abolitionist, and the story he was reading roused all he had felt on that subject intensely.

"The night came on. It was growing late, and I felt impelled to urge him to retire. Without raising his eyes from the book, he replied:

"Soon, soon, you go; I'll come soon."

"Closing the house, I went to our room; but not to sleep. The clock struck 12, 1, 2, 3 o'clock; and then, to my great relief, I heard Mr. Beecher coming upstairs. As he entered he threw 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' on the table, exclaiming: "There, I've done it! But if Hattie Stowe ever writes anything more like that, I'll—well! She's nearly killed me, anyhow!"

"And he never picked up the book from that day."

KEY TO THE MEDITERRANEAN.

The Fortress of Gibraltar and Its Value to England.

Gibraltar proper virtually occupies a peninsula which guards the passage between the Atlantic ocean and the Mediterranean, says London Temple Bar. It is a favorite military and naval station, wherein officers of both services can resign for the season their professional cares for lighter joys. Its works of defenses its bomb-proof batteries and lilliput fortresses heavily armed, more resemble the bulwarks of nature than those by the hand of man. They are well grouped together, even in a small area, because Gibraltar in no case exceeds three-quarters of a mile in breadth.

The rock rises abruptly from the low, sandy, peninsula-like isthmus to about fourteen hundred feet above the level of the sea. From its summit a view is obtained of unique sublimity. It can only be appreciated when seen. The mighty Mediterranean sea stretches away in the background, alike shadowy and grand in scenic beauty, steamers and shipping ever traversing its waters. In another direction the Atlantic ocean and expanded waters of the bay of Biscay, washing the shores of Spain, are prominent features.

Gibraltar was known to the Greeks and Romans as Calpe of Ablyla. The strip of land near Ceuta was named Ablyla. For many centuries they formed the renowned Pillars of Hercules, the then limit of ocean enterprise and commerce. Its strategical value to England is of paramount importance, being really the key of the position along which the merchants of the world pass upon the seas on their lawful vocations. If, unfortunately, this country were engaged in war, with France and Russia combined against her, we might find ourselves in "Queer street" without Gibraltar. Of course, the peninsula is much exposed to the destructive energies of the ocean waves. Sometimes the sea is calm and almost motionless, a picture of a vast plain of azure-like glass. At other times dark clouds chase each other over its surface, peals of thunder and forked lightning are heard and seen, and then the waves become lurid-like in their aspect and break with a roar on the peninsula. The ocean's surly, slow deep, mellow voice, full of awe and mystery, breaks night and day against the rocks, moaning, as it were, over the dead that it holds in its bosom, for the sea is the largest of all cemeteries, and its slumberers sleep without monuments. In other graveyards distinction is shown between the grave of the peer and that of the peasant, but in the sea and ocean, closely encircling our precious possession, Gibraltar, the same waves roll over all, and the same requiem is sung by the minstrelsy of the ocean in their honor. The same storm beats, and the same sun shines over their remains, but the graves are unmarked.

It is the general and popular belief that Gibraltar is an impregnable fortress, but grave doubts have arisen during the last twenty-five years as to whether "the rock" is really the impenetrable quadrilateral it is generally supposed to be. All political parties of the state appear to be agreed that if there are any defects they should be rectified, hence the action of the government in sending out the duke of Cambridge to inspect and report upon the necessary requirements, the absolute necessary strength of the garrison and other material and detail matter.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed for ever, nine cases out of ten are catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars to any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

ADVENTISTS REACHING OUT.

In Two Years 5,000 Persons Have Become Members and Accepted the Faith.

BATTLE CREEK, Feb. 18.—The general conference of the Seventh Day Adventists convened here Friday. There were 125 delegates present, representing forty state conferences and mission fields. During the last year the denomination has increased over 5,000 members. Seven churches have been built and twelve schools and colleges erected. At the present time eighteen persons are under appointment for different fields as medical missionaries. A medical mission has been established in Mexico and is doing good work. President Olson recommended larger plans for the work among the colored people of the south. Australia is considered by President Olson as a most favorable field of labor. The conference will be in session three weeks.

The fiftieth annual session of the International Sabbath School association convened here Sunday. There are now 47,849 children in the Sabbath schools of the Seventh-Day Adventists, an increase of nearly 2,000 the last year. During the year just closed the children have donated $39,249.62 for foreign missions.

BATTLE CREEK, Feb. 19.—At the Adventist conference here Monday reports were received from district superintendents. Good progress was reported. The southern states, which have but recently been invaded by this denomination, reported remarkable progress, especially in educational work. The Adventists are making many converts among the colored people in that section.

BATTLE CREEK, Feb. 20.—The Pacific coast district and foreign district reported at the Adventist conference Tuesday. The last year has been unusually prosperous for the denomination on the coast, while in Europe it has more than doubled in numbers. Dr. J. H. Kellogg presented a report of the Battle Creek sanitarium, which showed the net earnings for the year to be $30,000, all of which has been expended for improvements and charity.

ROUSES LABOR UNIONS.

Federation Executive Committee Urges Action on Desired Laws.

GRAND RAPIDS, Feb. 18.—The executive committee of the Michigan Federation of Labor, consisting of John D. Flanagan, of this city, president of the federation; H. C. Barter, of Detroit, and William Crewe, of this city, has drafted an address to the working men of the state, which will be sent out to all labor organizations in the state and to the labor leaders, as well as to the members of the legislature and others. The address defines what legislation the labor organizations desire and concludes:

"In accordance with this idea the Michigan Federation of Labor has had the following measures introduced into the legislature, copies of which will be mailed to affiliated unions: 'A bill to protect motormen; a bill to provide for the branding or marking of convict-made goods offered for sale or imported within the state of Michigan; a bill abolishing the contract system in state penal and reformatory institutions; a joint resolution embodying the principles of the initiative and referendum; a child labor bill; a bill to provide for the submission to juries in negligent cases of the question of the contributory negligence of the plaintiff therein; a bill to regulate the liability of employers for injuries to their employees and prescribing certain penalties for the violation thereof; a bill to establish a lien upon the property of employers for injuries received by their employees, for which such employers may be liable in damages; a bill for the better protection of union labels; a bill making eight hours a legal work day.

"The above are all good measures and organized labor and its friends should see to their passage. Affiliated unions should appoint committees to wait on senators and representatives in their several localities with a view of enlisting their support. All must work in unison so there will be no excuse for senators and representatives making the plea that they were ignorant of the wishes of the industrial masses."

GONE ON HIS LONG VOYAGE.

William Mees, One of the Oldest of Lake Navigators, Is Dead.

MUSKEGON, Feb. 15.—William Mees, the oldest captain on the lakes, died here Thursday morning. Two weeks ago he wrote a history of early navigation on Muskegon lake for ex-Lieut. Gov. Holt.

[Capt. Mees was born in Somersetshire, England, in 1826. At '2 he embarked on a small craft and sailed for Quebec. He arrived in Chicago eight months later and began his perilous career on Lake Michigan. His gallant action in rescuing the crew of the Nor-way is vividly remembered by many old inhabitants, and numerous tales of his adventures are told.]

Health Commissioner Exonerated.

DETROIT, Feb. 17.—At a special meeting of the board of health Saturday night after considerable discussion a resolution was adopted exonerating Health Commissioner McLeod so far as the present evidence goes from the charges of directing suppression or postponement of the reporting of cases of smallpox, as charged by Dr. Ropel, ex-examining physician of the board.

To Be an Open Port.

BENTON HARBOR, Feb. 19.—Deputy United States Collector of Customs Edgar Nichols has received a telegram announcing that Benton Harbor will be an open port the year round hereafter. Heretofore it has been the habit of the customs officer to keep this port closed during the winter months.

Frozen to Death.

MONTAQUE, Feb. 14.—William Sorenson, of Whitehall, 73 years old, was found dead by his son Pierce at the foot of a ladder leading to the hay stack. He went to feed his cattle and fell off, was stunned and froze to death.

Killed by the Cars.

THREE RIVERS, Feb. 18.—Cornelius Vangilder, aged 88 years, fell under a freight car in the Michigan Central yard at this place and was instantly killed. He was standing close to the track at the time.

A Hunter Killed.

Harold O. Henderson Given His Freedom After Serving Two Years.

LANSING, Feb. 20.—Gov. Rich, upon recommendation of the pardon board, has issued a pardon for Harold O. Henderson, convicted of burglary and sentenced to three years' imprisonment. Henderson is a civil engineer, a graduate of Yale and has wealthy parents in California, who have not heard of their son's disgrace.

Henderson, while calling upon a married woman, was attacked by her husband, and in his eagerness to escape jumped through a window. He had in his possession the woman's watch, and the husband had him arrested for burglary. For fear of blasting the wife's reputation Henderson would not explain his presence in the house and was convicted. He has served two years of his term. Since his incarceration the woman and her husband have separated, her actions being such, it is said, as to have caused this result, and the husband has been one of the most earnest pleaders for Henderson's pardon.

Republican County Convention.

The convention was called to order by Geo. D. Turner, chairman of the county committee, and a temporary organization effected by the election of H. F. Harbeck of Spring Lake as chairman and E. G. Cooney of Lamont as secretary. By reason of the delay in the arrival of the C. & W. M. train from the south the convention took a recess until three o'clock in the afternoon.

Upon re-assembling the following committees were appointed:

On credentials—Geo. A. Farr, W. A. Lillie, A. Lahuis.

On permanent organization and order of business—C. Van Loo, D. C. Oakes, Dr. C. P. Brown.

The snow blockade interfered sadly with the attendance. Out of a full delegation of 130, about 80 delegates were present. Jamestown and Grand Haven township were without representation.

Upon the report of the committee the temporary organization was made permanent.

Nominating speeches being in order Geo. A. Farr presented the claims of Edward P. Cummings, of Grand Haven—not because he is a citizen of said city, but by reason of his being eminently fitted for the place, equally so with any man in the county. Neither should any objection be raised against his candidacy because he hails from one of the cities. This is not a question of locality, but of competency. The office of commissioner of schools is one of uttermost importance, more so than any other represented in this court house. Here the foundations are laid for the future of county and state. Upon the common schools hinges the future of the Republican party.

Mr. Cummings was born here, and is known here, from core to skin. He is a graduate of the university and understands the foundations upon which a liberal education rests. He teaches in the public schools of this city; his scholars love him, and under his influence become better men. He is a young man of character, and without spot or blemish. Nominate him, and we will elect him.

The nomination was seconded by Dr. C. P. Brown of Spring Lake, and A. Lahuis of Zeeland.

Colon C. Lillie was nominated by D. C. Oakes, of Coopersville: I realize the difficulty in following Mr. Farr and with him I recognize the intelligence and development of our county. Two years ago we left our work undone, and it should be completed; the blot then left shall be removed now. Every county official in Ottawa county is a Republican, except the commissioner of schools, and every Republican should take a pride in standing by the decision of this convention. City schools have their own supervision; it is the country schools that are more particularly interested in this office. Besides, there is a territorial feature to this matter; one part of the country is not now properly represented on the board of county school examiners. We need practical education in the county schools, and we need experience. Mr. Lillie's work in the past has been satisfactory. Give him a chance.

Mr. Lillie's nomination was seconded by E. G. Cooney of Lamont, Mr. Cilley of Talmadge, and Mr. Walter of Robinson.

The third nomination was that of Seth Coburn, of Olive. His name was presented by W. M. Jacques, who in his droll, inimitable way informed the convention that Olive had deemed it to select some timber of its own for this important office. While every one feels interested in the schools of the whole county, it would perhaps be considered a trifle cheeky were we to force upon the cities a country lad to look after their city schools; and I submit whether the reverse would not also hold true. The interests and needs of the two are not identical exactly. Referring again to the timber they had, he assured the convention that for this purpose their timber was duly seasoned, by experience. Mr. Coburn had been and is now a member of the county board of school examiners, and would prove an acceptable candidate and efficient officer.

Mr. Vinkemulder of Olive also spoke in support of Mr. Coburn's nomination.

Geo. D. Turner and Mr. Cilley were appointed tellers, and an informal ballot resulted as follows: Lillie 62, Cummings 40, Coburn 9.

Mr. Van Loo, in behalf of the Zeeland delegation, then entered a protest against the nomination of Mr. Lillie.

The interests of the public schools are dear to our people, too dear to sacrifice them to any preference whatever, or to any man whomsoever. I will not here criticize any man personally; this has been done heretofore. We cannot and will not support Mr. Lillie. There has been too much defect in the past. This convention and the Republican party must take the consequences, if they force this man upon us, as against the young man from Grand Haven, who is in every way qualified. As Americanized Hollanders we prize too dearly the blessings of our American citizenship—and first among them the public schools—then that we will place them second to any other consideration.

The effect of the protest upon the next ballot was not very perceptible: Lillie 64, Cummings 40, Coburn 8.

Mr. Farr moved to make the nomination unanimous, but Mr. Van Loo objected, Mr. Lahuis of Zeeland adding that this office was too dear to the hearts of the people than that they could support the nominee, and that Mr. Van Loo in his remarks had presented the sentiments of the people of Zeeland.

The next thing in order was the election of delegates to the state convention. As such the following were appointed:

First district—Geo. A. Farr, Wm. Savidge, Geo. W. McBride, I. Marsilje, G. J. Diekema, P. H. McBride.

Second district—Henry Jackson, C. K. Hoyt, H. De Krul, R. Alward, H. Schuster, F. J. Fox.

Mr. Van Schelven, of Holland, offered the following:

Resolved, That we recognize in the Hon. Chas. H. Hackley, of the neighboring city of Muskegon, a philanthropic, broad minded and public spirited citizen, as shown by the bestowal of his munificent gifts for educational and other ennobling purposes; and a man, possessed of qualities of mind and heart eminently fitting him for the position of Regent of the University; and that we therefore heartily endorse the efforts of his fellow-citizens to secure him the nomination to this honorable and responsible position.

This resolution drew out an animated discussion. It was strenuously and persistently opposed by members of the delegation from Grand Haven city. On motion of Geo. A. Farr it was so amended as not to be considered as an instruction to the delegates as to their vote in the state convention. The resolution by the spirit of the opposition having lost its flavor as an act of neighborly amenity, and by the amendment shorn of its merit and tribute, was thereupon at the instance of its friends laid upon the table.

Whereupon the convention adjourned.

[The above was deemed by us ample as a synopsis of the proceedings of the convention. In Tuesday's G. R. Democrat however appeared a report of the convention, from its Grand Haven correspondent, which for its unfair and garbled contents, with reference to the Hackley resolution, requires explanation. Mr. Correspondent says: "G. Van Schelven offered a resolution favoring C. H. Hackley of Muskegon as Regent, on the ground that Ottawa county was tired of playing the tail to the Kent county kite..."

So long as "the ground" for the proposed compliment to Mr. Hackley is duly set forth in the resolution itself, no truthful correspondent in his report would have suppressed that ground and substituted in its place an incidental remark somewhat jeeringly, though truthfully uttered in a running debate.

This Grand Haven correspondent, if he was present at the convention, and we believe he was, must know that "the ground" set forth in the resolution, to-wit: the bestowal of munificent gifts for educational and other ennobling purposes, was duly dwelt upon and emphasized. But this he quietly ignores and from the many things that were said he picks out one expression, isolates it from its connections, and adroitly presents that as the motive actuating its introduction.

We still assert, how courteous it would have been for the Grand Haven delegation, who in the close proximity of their own door must have beheld the many noble deeds of Mr. Hackley, to have fallen in with this humble effort at neighborly recognition. Of all localities on the east shore of Lake Michigan none should have accorded a heartier support to a resolution like the one in question, because of "the ground" on which it is based.

With characteristic consistency an opposite course was pursued. However, of that we do not now complain; it is this—that in order to hide the animus of the defeat of the Hackley resolution and the position taken by the Grand Haven delegation thereto, Mr. Correspondent is willing not only to suppress from the public "the ground" upon which the resolution was actually based, but also to make the opposition thereto appear justifiable and lofty by alleging that "the ground" upon which its author advocated it, was "that Ottawa county was tired of playing the tail to the Kent county kite."

The Republican state convention, held at Detroit on Thursday, has made the following nominations:

For Justice—Joseph B. Moore, of Laapeer.

For Regents—Roger W. Butterfield of Grand Rapids, and Charles H. Hackley of Muskegon.

The nominations are excellent, every one of them.

But this is more than can be said of the platform adopted by the convention. It's about as unpronounced and evasive on the great problem of the day—the silver question—as language can make it. Better to have said nothing at all.

A Sign of Peace

is the downcome of war time prices.

The during-the-war price of baking powder was 45 to 50 cents a pound. Cream of tartar was then 45 cents a pound, soda, 6 cents. Cream of tartar is now 18 cents, soda, less than 2½ cents.

Still the would-be monopolists want the same "war" prices (45 to 50c. a pound) for their products.

CALUMET Baking Powder

Fortunately the twaddle of the platform does not effect the merits of the candidates for the several positions to which they are nominated.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

FACT OR FICTION ABOUT TWO GREAT FAIR AWARDS.

A newspaper paragraph denounces as "false" the claim of a baking powder company to an award at the World's Fair. Whom can they mean?

Certainly not Dr. Price's. Why? Because, as the records show, Dr. Price's exhibited, competed and received the highest award, both at the Chicago and the California Midwinter Fair. The award included Gold Medal. The official examiners pronounced it the strongest, the purest, the most wholesome and efficient of all the baking powders. Its title to confidence is unquestioned.

Can it be the manufacturers of a New York powder, fictitiously labeled "absolutely pure" who are making false claims? That would be strange indeed, inasmuch as they were not even considered in the awards.

Was it Ammonia in the New York powder that prevented its makers from competing? If not what?

A Disputed Case.

Many persons dispute the question as to whether or not baldness caused either by disease or neglect can be cured. In deciding the question allow us to say that most cases can be cured while others can not. Only a specialist of years experience can tell that. Prof. Birkholz, the world-renowned German specialist of the Masonic Temple, Chicago, where those who desire a good head of hair or beard consult him in private, and free of charge. After a thorough examination, which costs you nothing, we will tell you whether or not you may procure that trait of personal adornment so necessary to your existence, and if we find that the follicles are not dead we will treat you and guarantee the results or ask no pay. Call on or address Prof. Birkholz, 1011 Masonic Temple, Chicago, Ills.

Hand this notice to any first-class druggist and he will get the remedy for you at once, if he has not got it in stock.

PERFECT CONSTITUTIONAL POWERS.

Its extraordinary curative power manifest-itself almost immediately it is taken. On this point the evidence of those who have taken it is uniform and positive. They say they can feel the effect of every dose doing them good. It is a powerful nerve invigorating tonic, imparting its restorative influence through the medium of the nervous system to every organ and tissue of the body. It makes but little difference whether the constitutional vigor has been undermined by acute disease, overwork, or certain mischievous indiscretions or whether the broken down condition is caused by one cause or other, so long as there is nervous exhaustion, general or local weakness—so long as enervation and debility
are the type of the ailment, this is the remedy.

THOSE WHO SUFFER

from the results of over-mental or physical exertion, hardship, exposure, hidden drains, caprice, or who have brought upon themselves a series of afflictions by ignorance or wilfully violating nature's laws, will find in CATON'S VITALIZER AND NERVE TONIC the remedy for their certain relief. It speedily removes all evidences of progressive physical deterioration, and restores the enfeebled energies to their natural vigor.

WHENEVER THERE IS

any weakness of the vital organs, nervousness,
prostration of the physical or mental energies,
confusion of ideas, lack of self-confidence, irritability of temper, melancholy, cowardice, weakness of the knees and the back, palpitation of the heart, dragging pain in the loins, headache,
irritation of the kidneys and bladder, milky urine, pericarditis and hidden wastes, resulting in a failure of the mental and physical power, constituting an impediment to success and unfortunately hindering the duties and responsibilities of life, it is the remedy par excellence.
A single package will be sufficient to inaugucases. But stubborn cases often require more.

It will be sent, post-paid, secured from observa-

MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE.

Senate.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 15.—In the senate
Thursday bills were introduced appropriating $10,000 for the erection of a statue to the late Gov. Austin Blair upon the state capitol grounds; abolishing days of grace
on commercial paper; providing a station
house for women in cities of 10,000
inhabitants or upward, to be in charge of a woman matron; for a reformatory prison for people; abolishing the office of commissioner of mineral statistics; for the use of the Abbott voting machine at all elections in the state.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 16.—In the senate
a bill was introduced to prevent publishers from collecting pay for a publication taken from the post office after the time for which the subscription was given has expired. Bills were introduced for the introduction of a new ing machine for the divorce of persons becoming insane and for their restoration to marital rights on recovering soundness of mind, providing the other party remains unmarried. February 20 is the last day for introduction of bills, and this order will occupy both houses principally until after that date.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 16.—The fifty days in which bills can be introduced in the legislature will expire Wednesday midnight and the collection of bills now takes up the entire time of each house. The indications are the total number of bills to be introduced will equal, if not exceed, that of two years ago, which was the largest in the history of the state. One of the bills introduced in the house Monday is aimed at Mayor Pingree, it making it unlawful for any person to fill the office of mayor more than three terms in office
having a population of more than $0,000. Altering there were 126 bills introduced in the house on Monday, among them the following: Prohibiting alien stockholders of corporations from participation in the election of the board of directors; prohibiting aliens from practicing medicine; prohibiting the employment of aliens by corporations; prohibiting the insurance of children under 16 years of age; appropriating $34,000 for establishing a state normal school at Bay City; prohibiting the granting of teachers' certificates to persons using tobacco in any form; for an interchangeable system of railroad mileage; for use of the Osborne voting machine; establishing a state
weather service and appropriating $4,200 therefor.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 20.—In the senate
Tuesday the free silver resolution was the special order, but its consideration was postponed until February 26. The question of investigation into the affairs of the deaf and dumb institute at Flint was made a special order for Wednesday next.

House.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 15.—The house on Thursday, by a vote of 54 to 33, refused to submit to the people a constitutional amendment increasing the salaries of state officers, it requiring a two-thirds vote of all the members elect. The vote was reconsidered, however, and the measure tabled. The most important bills introduced were for prohibiting the corporation clauses and all other
"riders" on the insurance bill; making the liquor tax in cities and villages of from $500 to 10,000 inhabitants $500, and $1,000
in cities having a population in excess of that number; fixing a 5-mile limit about the university in which intoxicating liquors may not be sold; providing for the teaching in public schools of modes of spreading dangerous communicable diseases and the best methods of restricting and preventing them.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 16.—The most important business of the house Friday was the passage of a bill for registration in the entire state previous to the spring election. Under the law just passed to conform to the constitutional amendment adopted last fall, every foreign-born citizen must take oath that he is a full citizen of the United States before he can register. It challenged. A bill was introduced providing that the law be amended so that the small amount of the committee on municipal corporations made a unanimous report recommending the passage of the anti-Pingree Detroit health board bill,
which passed the senate.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 20.—By a vote of 66 to 21 the house on Tuesday passed the senate bill authorizing the governor to appoint a new health board for the city of Detroit. There is no doubt the governor will approve the measure. Bills were introduced as follows: Increasing the tax on liquors; providing a bounty of $100 each to surviving veterans of the late war; abolishing the present state board of health and creating a new one, in which the secretary of the board is prohibited from being a member; providing for the appointment of an assistant attorney general at a salary of $2,000 per year; for the township unit school system;
part of state normal school; abolishing the medical department at the state university;
appropriating $2,000 for the holding of day-men's state institutes; providing a bounty of two cents per pound on beet sugar; establishing a state hospital for consumptives; providing a state board of medical examiners.

Michigan Workmen Make Gains.

KALAMAZOO, Feb. 20.—The grand lodge Ancient Order United Workmen of Michigan was in session here Tuesday. The reports show that the membership was increased 364 in the year and now has 22,652 members. Twenty-five new lodges have been organized during the year. There was paid in beneficiaries for 216 deaths $431,227.
The total amount paid since organization is $3,018,000. Over 100 were given the grand lodge degree. There were 250 delegates present. They meet next year in Detroit.

Was of Royal Blood.

ALLEGAN, Feb. 18.—Another Allegan
pioneer has passed away—Amasa Weaver—who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henry Rose. He was born at Deerfield, N. Y., November 5, 1808, and came to Allegan in 1859. Mr.
Weaver served in the union army under Gen. Scott and Shields. He was of royal blood, being a grandson of King William Webber, of Holland. He was public spirited and an estimable citizen.

Found Guilty.

TAWAS CITY, Feb. 15.—The jury trying the case of Julius Fischer, ex-policeman of Bay City, brought in a verdict of guilty of manslaughter and recommended the prisoner to the mercy of the court.
Fischer shot and killed a young man by the name of Max Drifke at a country
dance last August.

Big Deal in Lumber.

MEMONIE, Feb. 20.—The Bay Shore
Lumber company has sold 150 carloads of lumber to an eastern firm, and it will be shipped to Tonawanda via the Ann Arbor ferries as soon as these boats resume their trips, which will be early in March.

Cut in Two.

WALDRON, Feb. 18.—Frank Pierce
was instantly killed in Treat's sawmill. The saw had become loose.
Pierce tried to fix it while the machine was in motion. He fell upon the saw, which cut his body in two lengthwise. He leaves a wife and family.

Death of George Torrey.

KALAMAZOO, Feb. 20.—George Tor-rey, one of the oldest inhabitants in this county and in newspaper work in this city for over fifty years, died here
Tuesday morning.

Call It a Craze.

AN ALARMING STATEMENT
CONCERNING WOMEN.

HOW BAD HABITS ARE FORMED.

The New York Tribune says: "The habit of taking 'headache powders' is increasing to an alarming extent among a great number of women throughout the country. These powders as their name indicates, are claimed by the manufacturers to be a positive and speedy cure for any form of headache. In many cases their chief ingredient is morphine, opium, cocaine or some other equally injurious drug having a tendency to deaden pain. The habit of taking them is easily formed, but almost impossible to shake off. Women usually begin taking them to relieve a raging headache and soon resort to the powder to alleviate any little pain or ache they may be subjected to, and finally like the morphine or opium fiend, get into the habit of taking them regularly, imagining that they are in pain
if they happen to miss their regular dose."

In nine cases out of ten, the trouble is in the stomach and liver. Take a simple laxative and liver tonic and remove the offending matter which deranges the stomach and causes the headache. Dr.
Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are composed entirely of the purest, concentrated, vegetable extracts. One Pellet is a dose; sugar-coated, easily swallowed;
once used, always in favor. They positively cure sick headache and remove the disposition to it.

Mr. E. VARGASON, of Otter Lake, Lapar Co., Mich., writes: "I frequently have an attack of the headache. It usually comes on in the forenoon. At my dinner I eat my regular meal, and take one or two of Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets immediately after, and in the course of an hour my headache is cured and I feel better every way for having taken them.
I feel worse, as is usual after taking other kinds of pills. 'Pleasant Pellets' are worth more than their weight in gold, if for nothing else
than to cure headache."

E. VARGASON, Esq.

RELIEF DOGS.

Canine Red Cross Service in the German Army.

For several years experiments have been made in the German army in the training of dogs for service in the hospital department. Not long ago, says the Detroit Free Press, the well-known animal painter, Jean Bungartz, was commissioned to take up the matter, and his recent report occasioned high praise from the emperor and the army. The first important step was the selection of a breed of dogs possessing all the qualities necessary for the purpose,
viz.: Obedience, watchfulness, intelligence, fidelity and perseverance. These qualities were found in the Scotch collie in the highest degree, and this breed
was, therefore, selected by Bungartz.

The equipment of the dog consists of a strong collar with a small leather pocketbook for letters, a small waterproof blanket for his rest at night and two pockets containing a small surgeon's outfit, linen, medicines and the small amount of dog biscuit. The entire load is less than ten pounds and can be easily carried by the dog for days.

His services are most important in the search for the wounded or dead; he often brings first help to a soldier fallen in brush or underbrush and completely hidden from sight; he makes an excellent courier, and runs from hospital to command or vice versa, faithfully delivering messages intrusted to his care as fast as a cavalryman, with much less danger to both courier and message. A large red cross marks each side pocket, and designates his connection with the sanitary and relief corps.
He also carries a small lantern on his back, to enable the litter bearer to follow him in his search for the wounded
or dead at night.

A Wise Tailor.

The leading paper in a provincial town recently published the following matrimonial advertisement: "A young lady of enormous wealth, who is prepared to pay off all the debts of her intended husband, desires to form the acquaintance of a respectable young gentleman, with a view to matrimony.
Each reply to be accompanied by a photo of the sender and addressed to J.
P., at the office of this paper." The delicate hand which drew up the above lines and thereby secured a very large number of offers belonged to no less a personage than Herr Itzig Schlauchel,
who had lately opened a clothing establishment in the town. By means of the photos sent in he was enabled to ascertain which of his would-be customers were in the habit of leaving their debts unpaid.

Warning to Expectant...

Mothers.

Many internal remedies are being skilfully and glibly advertised, professing to Shorten Labor, Lessen Pains of Childbirth, etc., and with wonderful inconsistency to regulate menstruation. Common sense should teach any woman that a preparation adapted for

will not prepare the system for Childbirth; on the contrary, INTERNAL REME-DIES at this time may imperil her life. We earnestly say BEWARE of all such advertising, and with wonder, that the best of the good, and their use may prove fatal.

It is only by persistent EXTERNAL treatment while enacting, thus relaxing and softening all the parts, that the best of the Childbirth is robbed of its terror; and no remedy on earth does this but

OUR NEIGHBORS.

Zeeland.

Last Friday afternoon a meeting of the property owners of the territory which it is proposed to annex to Zeeland township took place in the village hall. The meeting was largely attended and the sentiment was overwhelmingly in favor of annexation. A committee of three, C. Van Loo, J. Den Herder and Derk Van Loo, were appointed to look after the interests of the bill at Lansing, and another committee were appointed to solicit funds to defray the expenses incurred. C. Van Loo was in Lansing Wednesday and reports that the bill will be prepared and introduced at once. In discussing this subject last week a Holland paper makes the following truthful statement: "Zeeland township is one of the richest, if not the richest, in the county and well able to take care of itself." Of course she is, as the excellent condition in which the roads and bridges are kept, testify, but at the same time she is able to take care of that eastern strip of Holland township very nicely.

Grand Haven and Holland are complaining of a dog poisoner. Send him to Zeeland. He will be welcomed with open arms by some of our citizens.

J. Bouwens & Son have purchased the boot and shoe business of Den Herder & Son. Mr. Bouwens is an old settler in Zeeland, having been in active business here some years ago.

H. Keppel celebrated his ninetieth birthday Tuesday. In the evening relatives and friends gathered at his home and made the occasion an enjoyable one. Mr. Keppel is hale and hearty at this advanced age.

English services were held in the Reformed church Sunday evening.—Expositor.

Grand Haven.

John Groenendal went to church Sunday morning leaving his wife, aged twenty eight years, and two children, one eighteen months, the other five years, at home. When he returned near noon he found his wife hanging by the neck in the wood-shed, dead. She had been in poor health for several years, and had recently acted strangely, but there was nothing that led her friends to fear that she might take her own life. She had the dinner prepared and her two children had been with her all the forenoon. The woman had tied a rope to a screw in the ceiling of the shed, prepared a noose at the lower end and evidently stepped on the round of a little ladder which stood in the room. Then she made the leap which ended her life.

Postmaster Baar is at Washington, on business.

A. Bottje and his son Harm, who have a fine peach orchard, report after a careful examination of the peach buds that they find them in good condition.

The electric light plant's new engine for incandescent lighting has arrived and is in place.

Zeeland: Grand Haven boys defeated the Holland lads at every turn in the athletic tournament Friday night. The club was crowded with spectators and there was a big delegation of Holland admirers present. The wrestling match between the Grand Haven "unknown" (none other than Dan F. Pagelson) and Frank Kuite of Holland, resulted in favor of Dan, who won in three straight falls. The bouts took 11, 14 and 2 minutes respectively. Kuite was never in it, and it is doubtful if he could throw Dan once in 50 bouts. By winning the match Dan becomes champion wrestler of his class in Ottawa county and takes the handsome G. H. A. C. medal. After the wrestling match Peter Koopman of the Grand Haven Athletic Club, and Arthur Clavell, an Englishman of Holland, known as "the little tinner," put on the gloves. Three of the liveliest and most scientific rounds, ever seen in Grand Haven resulted, and Peter, as the Grand Haven man is popularly called, came out a winner with a big majority of points. Our Holland visitors, who were nice gentlemenly fellows, went home very sore in spirit, but they had been beaten fair and square in every instance.

Allegan County.

At the Republican county convention held last week Prof. J. W. Humphrey was re-nominated by acclamation as county commissioner of schools. In the course of the proceedings he was asked by one of the delegates, Mr. J. Dugan of Otsego, as to why the use of Barnes History of the United States was allowed in the schools of the county. Mr. Dugan stating that it was incorrect and unpatriotic in its treatment of the leaders and events of the civil war, leaning toward the Confederacy and praising its generals. Mr. Humphrey said he was powerless to prevent the use of this history, or of any particular textbook in the schools, the board in each district having authority in such matters. He believed it should not be so, and hoped a law would be passed at this session of the legislature changing this feature. In his consideration of the subject he had come to believe that some book makers were actuated by a sort of charity for the defeated side in the Rebellion and wished to present a subject so distasteful to many in the South in as favorable light as possible. He thought it wrong for writers to do so. Barnes was not the only publisher who did this, however, and he favored suppression of all text-books in which distorted facts and falsely colored biographies are given.

John H. Padgham, a prominent attorney in Allegan, is about to remove permanently to the wilds of Idaho, locating at a place called Gibsonville, eighty-five miles from Divide, Mont., the nearest railway station. Mr. Padgham will engage in law and mining.

The Allegan county board of school examiners will meet in Allegan March 28 and 29 and in Fennville April 26.

There is considerable sickness in and about Hamilton.

A large number of Hollanders and others from various parts of the county appeared before Judge Padgham this week to secure perfection of their citizenship papers. They wish to have a voice in the coming elections.

Supervisor Williams of Allegan township says his entire time during the recent cold "snap" was occupied in providing relief for applicants people coming to him at all times of day and even in the night for food, fuel, or clothing. Dozens of persons in the village and township were given aid, and more applications are received daily. This winter many have been forced to ask for help who never had done so before.

County officials are to investigate the cock fight which took place near Otsego Feb. 3. They have already secured considerable evidence and it is more than probable several arrests will be made.

Saugatuck.

The loss at the village hall by the recent fire has been estimated by a builder at $128. The loss will probably be adjusted immediately.

A petition has been circulated asking the township board to present to the electors at the next township meeting the proposition of paying highway taxes in cash. The present system of working out the tax is certainly most unsatisfactory in many respects, and under its operation only about one third as much improvement or repair of highways can be accomplished as might be done if the commissioner had the money to expend. There is considerable opposition to the movement, however, and it is doubtful whether it will be adopted.

MERCHANTS AND CRAFT GUILDS

A Sort of Trades Union That Existed in the Twelfth Century.

During the twelfth century merchant guilds arose in all the towns of importance in England, and in the next century a further development of town life took place in the rise of craft guilds. These associations were composed of the artisans engaged in a particular town. By the growth of population, it is evident that when the merchant guilds had attained their first century there would be a considerable number of persons dwelling in the town who would not be eligible to membership of the guild either as landholders or as the heirs of guildsmen. Many of these would be skilled in some pursuit or calling; and naturally they would adopt the best means of securing their rights and protecting their interests by taking common action against the rest of the community.

The earliest craft guilds were those of the weavers and fullers of woolen cloth, says a writer in the Westminster Review. The guild of bakers is nearly as old, and that of the leather dressers, or corversars, dates from about the same period. At first there was a struggle between the merchant guilds and the craft guilds, as the one body naturally strove to retain its monopoly of the government of the town and the other endeavored to share in its municipal privileges. But the circumstances of the time were such as to quickly unite the two bodies in a common resistance to the tyranny of the sovereign power, or of the great feudal lords. In turn, the monarch found it good policy to foster the towns, both with the object of developing their wealth, and so of acquiring a source of revenue for himself, as well as of bringing into existence a factor to counterbalance the overgrown power of the nobles.

A FIGHT TO THE DEATH.

How Two Warriors in the Interior of Africa Settled Their Love Affairs.

Even in the interior of South Africa jealousy will induce men to fight. If two Matabele warriors offer the same number of cows to the father of a belle for her possession, arms are resorted to to decide the superiority of one or the other, and one of the combatants is usually killed in the contest. One of Maj. von Wissmann's officers accidentally witnessed such a duel and described it as follows:

"Toward sundown while resting near an immense boulder of the 'Ingogo drift' we were suddenly disturbed from sleep by yelling and a noise of clashing arms. Looking up I saw three Zulus jumping around and belaboring each other with thin sticks. I asked my servant Tom what was the matter. He replied this was a duel for a woman. Upon sign of the umpire, who watched the fray, motionless, the sticks were changed for clubs, and another set-to with this formidable weapon followed. Suddenly another sign was given, the clubs were thrown away and both ran in different directions. About thirty yards from the former position both turned and lifted the assagai, throwing them at each other. One of the Zulus had approached our hiding place, behind the boulder, so that I could almost touch him. Just as he lifted his spear for a second throw his adversary's assagai hit him in the breast. Without a sound he collapsed. The other—the victor—returned to the kraal to fetch the woman, now his."

LOVE A LA CHINOISE.

One Period in a Chinese Girl's Life When She Is Praised.

The following letter was written by a Chinese in China, who desired the daughter of a neighbor as a wife for his son:

"On my knees I beg you not to despise this cold and common request, but listen to the words of the matrimonial agent and give your honorable daughter to my slave of a son so that the pair, bound by silken threads, may have the greatest joy. In the beautiful spring-time I shall offer wedding presents and give a couple of geese, and let us hope for a long and continuous fortune and look forward through endless generations to the fulfillment of genuine love. May they sing of plenty and have every joy. On my knees I beg you to consider my proposal favorably and throw the mirror-like glance of your eyes on these lines."

To this letter the father of the bride replied that he would "attend to the portion of his poor and poverty-stricken daughter, that she might not be without bedclothes, cotton clothing, hairpins and earrings. Therefore, it was to be hoped that the couple would have constant fortune."

IN A CHINESE PRISON.

Convicts Unconcernedly Waiting to Be Beheaded.

There Were No Soldiers or Warders on Duty and Little Children Were Playing About the Place—Repulsive Looking Criminals.

Since visiting this prison, writes Hon. Florence O'Driscoll, in Century, I have never ceased wondering at two things whenever I have thought of the subject: first, why the prisoners stay there at all; second, if determined to remain in prison when captured, how anyone can dare to be a criminal in China.

The buildings were none of them above twelve or thirteen feet high at the loftiest part of the roofs, and many were much lower. The outer door, unguarded, stood open, leading to some narrow passages with rectangular turns. Seated drowsily in the shade were two or three men in ordinary Chinese outdoor dress. Some children were playing about the alley, while a woman or two looked on. There was nowhere to be seen an official uniform indicating the presence of a soldier or a warder.

Inside were fifteen or twenty ferocious-looking creatures. They were human beings and tame, but they looked wild; the little clothing they wore was in rags and tatters. A chain about a foot long fastened the legs of each together, pieces of iron being bent round the ankles and looped into each end of the links. They were apparently half starved; their eyes were like those of wild beasts; their heads and faces were unshaven, and showed some inches of black growth standing straight on end. Though their queues were plaited, the hair was so ruffled as to make the plaiting almost indistinguishable.

The place was a small courtyard about twenty or twenty-five feet square. One great stall, like a cowshed, ran round it, barred up in front with the usual flimsy round saplings, except here and there an opening was left for convenience of passing in and out.

I did not feel particularly anxious to go in among the occupants, but as they all walked out to have a look at me, leaving the place empty, I entered. They then came back again, and stared at me. Possibly I was as strange a sight to them as they were to me.

The heat was intense, and beat fiercely upon the granite paving stones; the heat in the stall was still greater. Nothing that in the remotest degree resembled a bed was anywhere to be seen; not a bit of straw or even any rags. There were only dirty granite slabs to lie upon. The place smelt ill, and was very dirty; so indeed were the prisoners.

The guide said they were all sentenced to be beheaded, and that at any time the mandate might arrive fixing an immediate date for their execution. But nobody seemed to trouble himself in the least about the matter.

I now returned to the court only to find the magistrate had not arrived. After some time I proposed to go, but the guide suggested waiting for another ten minutes, saying that five or six prisoners had been sent for.

I momentarily expected them to file in under the charge of an armed guard. Just as I was about to give up all hope of seeing the court sit, I heard the clank of chains. Here were the prisoners at last.

A Chinaman unattended by any guard came in, and sat on a long low bench in one corner of the court. He wore hobble-chains of the usual pattern. Presently another walked in, apparently of his own volition, for no one was guarding or directing him. He also sat down. I noticed that the hobble-chains had made sores on his ankles, and he had tied a string round the calves of his legs which held the pieces of bent iron midway between his ankles and his calves. Then another prisoner, also unattended, clanked in, wearing one of the square wooden collars. He sat down, twisted the collar diamond-fashion, and supported its weight by holding its lower apex between his knees.

"He is a pirate," said the guide. The information was hardly necessary; he looked more like what my imagination had figured a pirate to be than ever any picture had shown me.

All that could be seen, when he sat down, was a large diamond-shaped piece of wood, with a terrible head glaring in its center, bare knees and legs with ankles chained together, and fingers clasping the lower side of the diamond, where they helped to support it.

Those hands were like birds' claws, with long, dirty, curved talons on them; his queue was large and fuzzy, like the tail of a maddened cat; the front half of his head, once shaven, wore a growth of black fiber standing straight on end, about two inches long—a sort of halo one might imagine a devil would wear. His chin and upper lip were covered with black hair standing straight out stiffly, like the bristles of a clothes brush—perhaps the growth of two months. His black eyes, never resting for a moment, glittered like beads in the sunshine, and, with his strong white teeth, made strange contrast to their background of dirty, yellow, soaked-parchment-like skin. He was a typical pirate.

Perhaps it was not to be wondered at. Two months passed in such conditions as had environed this man would probably transform the most pious-looking church deacon into a pirate of the wildest and most bloodthirsty type, who as a model would make the fortune of a realistic painter.

Density of Mahogany.

There is a remarkable difference in the density of mahogany as it comes to the cabinetmaker. A square foot of Cuban mahogany, one inch thick, weighs on the average six pounds; a like piece of Santo Domingo mahogany weighs four pounds, and a like piece of Mexican mahogany weighs two and a half pounds. The difference in weight between old pieces of Santo Domingo mahogany taken from the wreck of antique furniture and a piece of seasoned new Santo Domingo mahogany is much less than might be expected.

A CLUB FOR JILTED MEN.

Members Pledged to Wage a Loveless War on the Fair Sex.

I accepted an invitation the other day to dine with a friend at a club that he assured me was unlike, in some respects, any other club in the world, says a New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer. We went to Twenty-ninth street and entered a building that was not materially different in appearance from a thousand other houses in town that are used as residences by the well to do. The menu cards and the servants' buttons were marked by a neat monogram of the letters "J. C." My companion settled himself in an easy chair, and proceeded to explain.

"This club," he said, "owes existence to the whim of a very rich man who has hardly turned thirty years. He was engaged. The lady was wealthy, well connected and moved in the same social circles that he did. He was rich enough to satisfy any reasonable woman. Moreover, his character was beyond reproach.

"Perhaps he was a little cold in his wooing. I don't know. He did not know what defeat meant. Perhaps he unconsciously took it for granted that any woman must find him all sufficient, and that it would be unnecessary, even unbecoming, to ply the ordinary lover's arts that are generally believed to be so fetching with the fair sex. At all events, the young lady one day gave him to plainly understand that he wouldn't do. She returned his presents—I don't suppose he had ever written her a love letter, so she couldn't return any burning literature—and told him to apply elsewhere for a wife. Considerably stunned, he could only exclaim: 'Jilted! jilted!' He bought this house at first simply with the idea of living in it, but one day he chanced across a friend who had had a similar experience with the fair sex, and, after comparing notes, they decided to live together to pursue the same line of campaign in society; that is, to make themselves as interesting as possible to women, but never on any provocation to marry. Before long they heard of another acquaintance whose engagement had been broken by the lady, and they took him in. So, little by little, the affair has grown to its present proportions, a small, but select and contented club."

"And the initials J. C. mean, the—"

"Jilted club, exactly. Every member must have been jilted, and every member is supposed to enter society freely and play for hearts—to take them, but never to surrender his own. In the event of his getting entangled and entering upon a new engagement his membership lapses at once."

WHY THE TRAMP WEPT.

But the Lady Who Dropped the Bottle Said: Never a Word.

A large crowd of spectators, the majority of whom were women, were standing in front of a show window on Broadway one day, says a New York exchange, watching the movements of a muscular young man, who was busily engaged in demonstrating the useful qualities of a new exercising apparatus.

While the eyes of the crowd were fixed on the graceful bendings and twistings of the exhibitor, there was a sharp report, as though something fragile had fallen upon the sidewalk. The woman from whose hand the package had fallen, and who was a picture of respectability, stooped and picked up the paper, which was dripping wet, and, casting one despairing glance at it, dropped it quietly in the gutter and hastened up Broadway, as though she had an important engagement which demanded her immediate attention.

In the meantime the contents of the package had been spreading over the sidewalk, and as the odor of good old rye insinuated itself into the nostrils of the crowd a broad grin spread over the faces of everyone except an old tramp, who sat down on the edge of the gutter and wept bitterly at the sad sight of such a waste of good material.

Revenge After Twenty Years.

He was asking the old man for his daughter in marriage. He was talking tremblingly, hesitatingly, says the Springfield Union, as you read of in story books, and the scene was full of color, so far as an irate father and a nerveless young man could make it. It came the old man's turn to speak, and as he began his face was white with passion and his voice shook with excitement. "You want to marry my daughter?" he said. "Ah, now is the time for my revenge. Twenty years ago your father crippled me in a stock deal and I swore to be revenged. And now my time has come." He paused for breath, and the aspirant for the maiden's hand was about to beat a hasty retreat in the face of supposed defeat, when the father broke forth again: "Yes, sir, I swore to be revenged, and now I'll strike the father through the son. Want my daughter, eh? Well, take her, and may she prove as expensive to you as she has to me." The old man dropped into his chair, worn out with the excitement of his plot, and the young man fainted.

WANT WHAT THEY CAN'T GET.

How a Certain Little Human Weakness Affects the Furniture Trade.

"John," said a furniture salesman, the other day, to the mover whom he had summoned, "this bedroom set is sold, but it is not to be delivered just yet. Move it out of the showroom at once and store it somewhere until I want it."

"What's the use of moving it until you send it up to me?" asked the purchaser, idly. "Why don't you leave it where it is?"

The salesman, says a New York exchange, uttered a queer little laugh and said:

"It is evident that you were never in the furniture business, or you would not ask that question. If I should mark that set 'sold' and leave it here in the showroom in plain sight it would probably lose us several good sales."

"How so?" asked the purchaser, with an unbelieving look.

"It illustrates a universal weakness of human nature," laughed the salesman. "Everybody wants what he can't get, and there is nothing quite so attractive to the average buyer as a piece of furniture that somebody else has bought before he came around. If I left that bedroom set out marked 'sold' half a dozen persons would say before night that it was exactly the set they wanted, and when they heard there were no duplicates they would fuss around enviously and nothing else in the establishment would satisfy them."

"Eventually they would go off discontentedly and buy elsewhere, though the chances are that if there were no 'sold' tag on the set none of them would give it more than a passing glance, while a fair proportion of them would purchase other sets. It is a little human weakness, that is all."

So arises one of the tricks of the trade. When a dealer sells a piece of furniture of which he has no duplicates he puts a big "sold" tag on it and leaves it in open sight as long as possible for a bait to others.

She Didn't Take With the Gentlemen.

She was refined, intelligent, and not bad looking, but somehow she never seemed to take with the gentlemen. They didn't like her listless ways; they said she hadn't any "snap" about her. Poor girl! she was suffering from functional irregularities, and it was actually impossible for her to take much interest in anything. But a change came. One day she heard of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. She procured a bottle, and she had not taken half its contents when she felt like another woman. Now she is in the enjoyment of perfect health, and has suitors by the score. No woman need suffer from functional irregularities and weaknesses. The "Favorite Prescription" is a safe and certain cure for all the weaknesses to which women are peculiarly subject.

Dr. Pierce's Pallets cure constipation, biliousness, indigestion and headache. One a dose.
